Corn Borer Becomes Serious Pest Farmers in Panhandle Section

Winter Is Time To Kill Borer, States W. H. Upchurch

EXPOSE HIS HOME

City Folks Are Urged To Cut Down All Corn Stalks

Let's swat the corn borer. The "Southwestern Corn Stalk Borer" which started its migration across the Panhandle several years ago has become such a serious crop pest that growing corn for grain has almost been eliminated from several counties. It is safe to say that more corn is destroyed every year in this section, by the borers than is consumed by all the people who enjoy eating roasting ears.

The Southwestern Corn Stalk Borer should not be confused with the European Corn Borer. It is not the same bug.

Unlike many other insects the corn stalk borer is easily controlled, provided every one who grows corn will co-operate in a little winter time work.

No poison or special equipment is required.

Never has there been a more opportune time to eliminate this most destructive pest.

Winter time is the control time for the reason that the borer spends the winter in the larva stage in a small hollow which he makes for himself in the very bottom of the corn stubble. Here he spends the cold winter months in a state of hibernation and starts to dig out when the ground is warm in the spring.

To kill the borer it is only necessary to expose his winter home to the sunshine any time after the first freeze in the fall. This can be easily done by plowing out the corn stubble with a lister, or in the case of small gardens, just pulling up the old stalks. If the stubble is exposed to the sunshine after the borers go into hibernation, they will become active and will then be destroyed by frost the first real cold night. They will withstand sub-zero temperature if they remain below ground in a state of hibernation, but will not live through the winter if the stubble is exposed on top of the ground.

We could easily eliminate the pest if everyone who has so much

Work Dormitory Expected To Be Started in Jan.

Construction on the Men's dormitory which is to be erected on the campus of the College as a PWA project is expected to begin early in January, according to a statement made by President Hill today.

Only a few technicalities remain to be adjusted, and the plans are rapidly nearing completion by architects Rittenberry and Carder of Amarillo.

This dormitory, which will be the first erected for men, will house approximately 32 men and will cost $47,000.

It is estimated that work on the building will last for five months and that thirty men will be given employment on the job.

Large Carrot Is Raised By Mrs. Nick Hollenstein

Mrs. Nick Hollenstein brought to the News office Friday a carrot which weighed 3½ pounds. The carrot was raised at the Hollenstein farm near Umbarger.

Mrs. Hollenstein states that she raised many large carrots in her garden, but this was the largest one which she had found.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Landers and daughter, Miss Fern, spent Saturday here with LeRoy Landers.

Hills Will Talk To Son Sunday Nite Over Radio

If conditions are favorable Sunday night, Dr. J. A. Hill will have the experience of sending his voice across the 10,000 miles between here and the South Pole and speak to Joe, a member of the Byrd Expedition. Mrs. Hill, if able, will probably speak from her hospital room.

The unusual opportunity is coming to Mr. and Mrs. Hill through WPAA, which is sponsoring a broadcast to the three Texas members of the Little America party. The time allotted for the program is 10:30 to 11:00 p. m.

Rucker, a college student who is County Superintendent-elect of Wheeler county.

Mrs. R. P. Jarrett, Mrs. W. E. Lockhart, Lynna Lee Lockhart and Miss Nell Green also went to Galveston, and will spend the time visiting friends.

All expect to be back Sunday night so as to meet early classes on Monday.

D. E. Colp Will Make Official Visit to Palo Duro

D. E. Colp, chairman of the Texas State Parks Board, will arrive in the city this week to make an official visit and inspection of the Palo Duro State Park. He was scheduled to make a visit here for Thanksgiving, together with superintendents and members of the National Park Service, but this visit was postponed.

Mr. Colp has been invited to Quitaque to make an inspection of a site which is being offered the state as a state park. Citizens in that section are asking that a CCC camp be located there if the site is accepted.

Mr. Colp is expected to spend several days here inspecting the work which is in progress at the Palo Duro.

Thanksgiving Service Held Wednesday Night Here

SNOW BRINGS MOISTURE

Freak Weather Is Seen Tuesday Following Snow

DUST WITH SNOW

Wheat Chances Improved Here With Light Snow

Snow, followed by a cold wave swept by a high wind mixed with a dust storm, was the Randall county quota of weather Tuesday.

The snow covered a considerable portion of the Panhandle, but missed a large section of the northwest territory around Dalhart, where the dust storm originated early in the morning, and made dark and gray the sky for other sections.

All of Randall county received snow. In Canyon the moisture amounted to .15 of an inch. Between Canyon and Amarillo the snowfall was considerable heavier, although little fell in Amarillo.

Following the splendid rains of last week, the snow will be of great benefit to the wheat.

Close investigation of the wheat in Randall county during the past week shows that probably 20% of the wheat planted died during the continued dry weather of the fall. Some wheat which is not entirely lost is reported to have died down to such a thin stand that the weeds will take it in the spring unless there is an unusually large

Timber Creek Bridge Opened Sunday For Press Delegation

Major E. A. Kingsley opened the Timber Creek bridge in the Palo Duro State Park Sunday for the first time, allowing the representatives of the daily newspapers of Texas to dedicate the opening of the bridge.

A barbecue was given at the Park in honor of 40 visiting newspaper men from many of the daily newspapers of Texas.

Major Kingsley has the road in splendid condition for six miles into the park, and this work has been greatly improved since the new road grader and caterpillar engine were bought by the National Park Service.

Concrete is being poured for the floor of the second story of the lodge. It will require about a week to complete this work.

Mr. and Mrs. Flaudie Gollman of Sunnyside were visitors Sunday in the Ray Cheyne home.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Weeks of White Deer were visitors Sunday in the Mrs. A. M. Smith home.

1,000 Head of Cattle Are Being Bought In Randall

Cattle buying was started in Randall county Monday with a crew headed by Dr. Rush and Clyde McElroy.

The government has authorized the purchase of 1,000 head in this county, increasing the original quota of 500. County Agent W. H. Upchurch asked that the quota be placed at 1,500 but so far has received no word as to the possibilities of this amount.

In spite of the bad weather this week, the buying program has gone forward as rapidly as possible.

It will require something like two weeks in order to complete the buying program in the county, states Mr. Upchurch. Farmers who were anxious to list their cattle for sale were requested last week to do so at the office of Mr. Upchurch. Since the rains and snow, the pasture situation is not so serious with many farmers as it was last week, but it is pointed out that this will probably be the last opportunity for the farmers to clean up their herds by selling to the government.

Government Gets Fee Title Land In Palo Duro

All questions regarding the future of the Palo Duro State Park was believed to be settled Saturday when Fred A. Emery of Chicago filed at the clerk's office releases to all rights to certain tracts of land which were demanded by the National Park Service before work would continue.

Few citizens knew that negotiations have been pending since the last of September, when the government demanded that this land be given to the state free of incumbrance, or extensive work might stop on the Park site.

Citizens of Canyon and Amarillo held several meetings during the latter part of September in an effort to meet the demands of the government. Mr. Emery urged the holders of liens upon the land to make the proper releases in order to keep in progress the work at the Park which had been in progress for more than a year.

The land demanded consists of the entrance to the Park, the site of the CCC camps, the lodge site, and a 100-foot right-of-way across the Park. The lien holders agreed to the demand, and the releases were filed by Mr. Emery.

As most citizens know, the Palo Duro Park was started when the state assumed payment to lien holders of outstanding notes on the land, from the proceeds of the park. The National Park Service agreed to start work on the Park under this arrangement, but this fall decided that a clear title must be given on the site of building activities before any more money would be authorized on the project.

The land affected in this release amounts to 240 acres for the building sites, in addition to the right-of-way.

It is stated that the concessions and admission charged to the Park have taken care of a large part of the interest due on the land in the 15,550-acre tract within the Park area. Under the original contract with the state, the lien holders would be paid from the revenues of the Park. With the completion of the lodge and other

Thanksgiving time is here once more. The pessimist will wonder what there is to be thankful for. The optimist will find many things for which he may be thankful. He is thankful that things have improved to some extent over last year. He can be thankful that for the past few months a steady business average has been maintained, with the inclination being in favor of general recovery in the nation. He may be thankful that more people are at work today, than were a year ago, as shown on relief rolls. He may be thankful the nation's health conditions are at their best; that men and women are taking care of themselves better than they have in the past as a result of more leisure time, and a saner mode of living. He may be thankful that we have a sympathetic government which is demanding that people neither starve or freeze to death; but that so far as lies within its power, this government shall give every person a chance to make a living. The American people have many things for which they may be thankful--the greatest of which is that they live in America.

The death knell of the Blue Eagle has been sounded a number of times in recent months, but inevitably the old bird manages to survive. Whether or not the Blue Eagle has accomplished what is claimed for it remains grounds for discussion. That it still has great possibilities, no one will seriously deny. The ambitious program suggested for NRA was impossible of effective performance. What ever good it was able to accomplish should be credited to its good intention. Its failure of performing the impossible should not be charged up against a good idea, even though the nation was not in the frame of mind to accept it. On the whole, business was greatly benefitted through NRA. It is unfortunate that chisslers in every line of business will sound the final death knell to this worthy experiment.

The Japanese are demanding that their navy be equal to that of this nation and England. The little nation has been able to continuously defy the rest of the nations and get away with it. Whether or not they shall succeed in their present demands will depend upon the ability of the English speaking nations to stick together. England needs the help of the United States and must depend upon it, unless she sees a stronger combination by union with European nations which might be friendly to Japan. The muddle continues to grow, with the likelihood that the Japanese bluff will be called.

War news occupies the first interest of the world today as nations seem to be attempting to line up for another world-wide conflict. Perhaps the foolishness of war will dawn upon the sane leaders of every nation in time to stop another unnecessary war. At least, the nations should calmly decide upon the victors of the last world war before attempting to start another one. Many authorities believe that the present war scare is merely verbal, each nation attempting to out-talk the others in the hope of securing more favorable business arrangements. Let us hope so, at least.

There was much criticism of the RFC in making a loan of $80,000,000 to General Charles G. Dawes bank in Chicago. The loan was defended by no less personage than President Hoover in making a final appeal to the voters for re-election. It has now become necessary for the government to bring suit against the Dawes bank, with the possibilities that much of the loan will be a loss. Political pressure for the purpose of making favored government loans has never turned out profitably for the tax payers, who furnish the RFC funds.

Police officials in large cities who will tell the truth have developed the fact that careless driving has increased to a very great extent since the repeal of the 18th amendment. Booze and gasoline will not mix. Drunken drivers are becoming a greater menace on the streets and highways as the prohibition laws are loosened. Unfortunately it is not always those who are indulging in booze who get hurt in the wrecks; it is usually the innocent party into whom this class of driver smashes his car.

The business houses of Canyon are joining in a co-operative movement to bring bigger and better bargains to their customers. A series of weekly events will be staged at which time cash will be distributed free to those who trade in Canyon. The business houses of Canyon are stocked with bright, new merchandise preparatory for the holiday trade, and exceptional bargains are being offered during this trade campaign. Every citizen of Randall county is urged to come to Canyon on Saturday and to take advantage of the bargains offered, and to share in the distribution of the cash to be given by the business houses.

About Thanksgiving time it seems that the nation is football crazy, as the championship teams are engaged in the final games for supremacy. Unfortunately in Texas the high school championship battles are really just getting started as the bi-district games get underway toward the state championship game. As a result, too little school work is being done in those schools which produce winning teams.

The man who helps himself is the one who trades at home. There never was a time in the economic history of this nation when it was so necessary for people to stand by their home institutions. Building a great business in some other town is not going to help the citizen of a small community.

The farmers of Randall county will be glad to continue the corn-hog contracts for the coming year. These contracts will be offered to the farmers during the month of December. The effort on the part of the government to assist the farmers in a recovery program is highly appreciated.

The only way in which more perfect weather could have been provided for the Panhandle would be a good rain every week. It is unusual not to have a killing freeze before the last week of November.

The weather man may do the Panhandle a very great favor by continuing the rains and add some big snows during December and January.

BACKSTAGE in the TELEPHONE SERVICE

The telephone service this company furnishes you could not be as uniformly good, as quietly accurate, as far-reaching and inexpensive, if the nation-wide organization of the Bell System did not stand behind it.

There is American Telephone and Telegraph Co., the parent organization, furnishing technical and business guidance to the 24 operating companies.

There is Bell Laboratories, the research organization, constantly seeking better and more economical methods and equipment.

There is Western Electric, the supply unit, buying and manufacturing at a cost in most cases below what would be paid in competitive markets.

Each of these units stands behind the men and women who give you your local telephone service. Each is dedicated to the fundamental and enduring Bell System policy of giving good telephone service, at a fair cost to the user.

Back of this policy lies our belief that in an undertaking such as ours, planned for the long run, what is best for the telephone user becomes in the end the course that will bring us the sounder, more enduring success.

1351 STUDENTS ARE NOW ENROLLED IN THIS COLLEGE

Fifty One New Students Have Been Added List In Registrar's Office

Although not all students have paid their fees in the Business Manager's office, thus completing their enrollment, a tentative count has been made revealing that at present there are 1351 students enrolled in West Texas State Teachers College. This count includes Demonstration School people and students who are meeting extension classes being taught by professors of W. T. in towns in this region. The remaining number is that of the students regularly enrolled in the college. According to reports from the registrar's office, this does not include all students who plan to enroll for not all fees have been paid. To this group of 1351 students, will be added the number included in the new class recently organized in Childress and being taught by Dr. A. M. Meyer.

297 Increase

322 people are enrolled in the Demonstration School; 236 are enrolled in the extension classes. 793 students are regularly enrolled in the college. The total is an increase of 297 over the enrollment of the second quarter of last year, it being 1054.

The name of the student, his home and Canyon addresses, and his telephone number will be included.

PRACTICE FOR BASKETBALL STARTS DEC. 3

FIVE LETTERMEN ARE RETURNING TO SQUAD THIS YEAR

First call for varsity and freshman basketball practice at West Texas has been announced by Coach Baggett for Monday, December 3.

Basketball season for the Buffaloes will begin at three-thirty o'clock on that afternoon with the first of a long series of workouts before a team has been picked, or a game played.

Five Lettermen Returning

Lettermen who will return for the Varsity this year are John Walker, Edd McMinn, Willie Boedeker, Curtis Clement, and Leonard Britt. Walker and McMinn were regulars last year, while the other three served as reserves. With their experience of last year Boedeker, Clement, and Britt should develop into real players.

M. E. Cleavinger is returning from last year's squad. Although he did not play enough to letter last year, Cleavinger is fast, a good guard, and an accurate shooter, and should add strength to the Buff squad this year.

Freshmen From '33-'34

From last year's freshman squad are several players who should make good varsity material. Chief among those are Joe Smith, Jack Davis, Audell Kimmins, and Marvin Myers.

Several former junior college players will be out for the team, and some dark horses may develop as stars.

The trials and troubles of the Pilgrims have been ours, under different names, in modern garb. And now, with time to pause and take stock of our blessings, we find reason to observe a holiday once almost meaningless.

Just as that first Thanksgiving became yearly tradition, at least in spirit, let us resolve to make this Thanksgiving a point from which to move ahead, taking stock of our advantages and resolving to make each succeeding year a greater cause for "Thanksgiving."

Thanksgiving Day

This has been a year of health; of peace and love and contentment. Our lives have been guarded over, our homes have become dearer, our hearts have gone out to one another. As a nation, we have borne witness to the fact that the spirit of man and the happiness of man are not at the mercy of a dollar sign. For all of these things, let us give thanks.

Change in the Queen's Taste

It's not considered important news if a woman gets a new hat, but when the woman's the Queen of England—that's different. For many years Queen Mary has worn her own particular brand of ungarnished toque. Recently, as shown above, she appeared with the king in public wearing a hat with a jaunty feather on the side.

'Production Relief' Plan Brings Real Thanksgiving to Unemployed

Money doesn't figure in this transaction. At Unit No. 9 of the Unemployed Co-operative Relief Association in Los Angeles, jobless men are shown receiving food in return for their labor.

BESIDES their health, many jobless Americans have something for which to be grateful this Thanksgiving Day. "Production Relief," a plan by which the unemployed help one another, has restored to numerous depression victims the chance to work, regain their self-respect, and earn the necessities of life.

In almost any town there are factories that have stood idle and taxridden the last few years. In the same town there are numerous unemployed, depending on the government for relief. So an increasing number of communities throughout the United States have decided to "kill two birds with one stone."

Money formerly handed out for relief is being used to put the factories into working condition; and persons who have been existing on charity are going to work in those factories, creating products for their own use, or for exchange with other such units.

IN Ohio, the plan seems to have reached the most advanced stage of development. In a no-longer-vacant Cleveland factory, for instance, a group of unemployed suitmakers have begun to make clothing for thousands of Ohio jobless who haven't had new suits for months or years.

This surplus clothing may be traded for furniture in Cleveland; or for dishes, women's and children's clothes or shoes, produced similarly in other Ohio cities.

In Southern California, nearly 20,000 people are organized in a string of co-operatives which produce and exchange fruits and vegetables. At Everett, Wash., a group operates shoeshop, wood-working and blacksmith shops, some 25 acres of farmland and a cannery.

Wood-cutting, farming, and cattle-ranching supply a living and a few dollars weekly to members of a Tacoma, Wash., co-operative.

In Colorado, 10 communities are exchanging their products through the Colorado Co-operatives, Inc. In Richmond, Va., 554 families work for a share in their own products.

IN all, there are at least 150 communities in the United States and its possessions which are experimenting with "production relief," in some form or other. And while the Federal Emergency Relief Administration has not actively backed the plan, it has at least furnished the money and its blessing.

Objections of private industry to this new federal-financed "competition" has relaxed with the realization that there really is no competition. The commodities are restricted to the use of the jobless, who are not potential customers for the commercial market.

Then, the raw material used by the co-operatives means more work for private producers of such material.

All in all, production relief is the most revolutionary step yet taken to conquer depression, unemployment, and bitter discontent. To many relief dependents who are sick of passively accepting aid, and who want to do something to earn it, the reopening factory doors are a sign of hope; something for which to be profoundly thankful.

Anglers Display New Curves

A hook like this would probably have to be baited with a python, but, just the same, these Miami nymphs seem optimistic about their chances of bagging a whale or something, judging by their smiles.

This appetizing dish seems to be a chicken pie, and yet there are a lot of dates in evidence. Anyway, these debs, crashing the upper crust at Miami, Fla., give you their version of a luscious Thanksgiving dessert.

ETIQUETTE

Q. Is it permissible to make a social call by way of the telephone?

A. It is a lazy and discourteous way of being friendly.

Q. If one suddenly "runs out" of ink during a class, is it ill-mannered to borrow?

A. Do not borrow except when it is absolutely necessary; others don't like to furnish ink for half a dozen people daily.

Q. What does "R. S. V. P." on invitations mean?

A. "R. S. V. P. does not mean "Refreshments served very promptly." It means: "Repondez s'il vous plait"—Reply if you please.

TWO HOLIDAYS ARE GIVEN FOR THANKSGIVING

SUPERINTENDENT CARRUTH ATTENDS MEETING AT GALVESTON

In keeping with the custom of giving two holidays at Thanksgiving there will be no school the 29th and 30th of November.

The two days and the week-end combined should give the students sufficient rest so that they will come back ready for more work.

The third grade teacher, Miss Gwendolyn Black, and Superintendent I. B. Carruth plan to attend the State Teachers Convention at Galveston.

"All on a Summer's Day" Presented By Dramatics Students

A play, "All on a Summer's Day" by Colin Clements, was presentel in the Dramatics Club of Canyon High School, Tuesday, Nov. 20.

The characters were: ONE, Beulah Brasuel, TWO, Rowena Lockwood, THREE, Chloie Hail, and MAMMY, a dark messenger of Fate, Ruth McCrerey.

The play is a fantastic comedy with the humor lying in the characters and manner of presentation, rather than in the situation and lines. The play takes place in a garden where the three sisters live. ONE wants to get married; TWO wants to be famous, and THREE wants to be wealthy. All three get their wishes and live happily ever after.

"The Return of Buck Gavin," a Carolina Folk-Play, is to be presented in the club Dec. 4.

The characters are Buck Gavin, Joe Frank; Mary Gavin, his sister, Myrtle Chitwood; and the sheriff, Sewel Cox.

The play takes place in the log cabin where Buck and his sister live. Buck, a fugitive of justice, has returned to put flowers on the grave of a comrade whom the officers have killed. The Sheriff comes in and captures Buck before he gets off with the flowers, but tells his stister to take the flowers to the grave.

COMPANY DINNERS SERVED BY HOME EC. CLASSES

The second year Home Economics classes served company dinner at their class periods, Thursday.

The nine o'clock class had Principal John B. Pope, Forrest Hill, and Jack Inman as guests.

The eleven o'clock class served Coach Cleveland Jones, and Superintendent I. B. Carruth.

SEVENTH GRADE HAS PARTY

The seventh grade had a class party last Thursday night from 7 o'clock to 10 o'clock, in the grade school gymnasium.

A number of games were enjoyed throughout the evening.

At 10 o'clock ice cream and cake were served to 39 members who were present, and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Sanders, Mrs. W. T. Davis, room mother, Miss Erin Gamble, and Mr. and Mrs. John Davis.

DOOR CURTAINS FOR AUD.

In order to make the auditorium more private, monks cloth curtains were made by Miss Fannie Sue Brasuel, and hung over the doors leading into the auditorium.

These curtains will rid the groups practicing in the auditorium of unwanted bystanders who crowd outside the doors while rehearsals are going on inside.

Lorna Cone spent Sunday in Floydada.

Irene Thompson will spend the week-end at Tulia.

Miss Grace Clark plans to spend the holidays in Lubbock.

Stars, Dates, Widows Topics For Scribes

Both Senior English classes, under the supervision of Miss Goodrich, have been writing short stories.

Some of the stories are original; others are suggestions from books or novels. Many of the covers for the stories are illustrated or decorated manilla backs. Titles of some of the stories are:

". . . and the Stars Shuddered," "Football's Unknown Hero," "The Unbroken Date," "Aristocracy and the Doctor," "You Guess Awhile," and "The Black Widow."

Was It Innocence Or Sales Talk?

Rushing in breathlessly Friday afternoon, immediately after the 4 o'clock bell, a little girl gasped, "I want to sell you a ticket." An envelope containing tickets clipped together were waved in Miss Goodrich's face.

"What are they for?" she inquired.

A blank silence ensued; the child gave a couple more deep gasps; an embarrassed, puzzled expression spread over her face; then—"I've forgotten," was the answer, "But I think it's for Tuesday night."

"Well, come back Monday morning and I'll buy one," obliged the teacher.

The little girl came back Monday. She forgot to bring the ticket; however she took the money and promised the ticket Tuesday.

She had the goods even though she didn't know what it was, and she must have had "sales appeal."

Sr. English Classes See Movie Classic

Because it fits in with their study of English literature, the two Senior English classes with their instructor, Miss Lois Goodrich, went as a group to the show Monday night to see "The Barrets of Wimpole Street," a picture depicting the romance of Robert Browning and Elizabeth Barrett.

The picture, starring Norma Shearer, Charles Laughton, and Frederic March, all of whom were honored by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences for the best performance of a year, is rated as the best picture of the year by movie critics.

After the show, the students were served refreshments by Miss Goodrich at the J. M. Daugherty home, 1301 Fourth Avenue.

Juniors Entertained At Cox Home With Banquet, Nov. 22

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Cox entertained the Junior Class with a banquet, Nov. 22, at their home.

Thirty Juniors were present as well as their sponsors, O. T. Barker and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Pope, and Mr. I. B. Carruth.

Jack Taylor, the class president, was master of ceremonies, and during the dinner different guests expressed appreciation for the gracious hospitality of the Cox family in entertaining the class in the living room of the Cox home. Estill Furlow, a senior, entertained with selections on the guitar and harmonica.

Obera Burgan gave a party at her home Friday night, Nov. 23. Those present were: Billy Black, Kate Eileen Donnell, Billy Bewley, Clarence Zachry, Henry Campbell, Gladys Hutton, Gladys McBride, Mabery Vandergriff, Barnett Ball, and Eugene Brown.

Polly Little will spend Thanksgiving at her previous home in Panhandle.

O. T. Barker will spend his Thanksgiving holidays hunting west of Plainview.

College Band Gives Concert At High School Friday Night

C. E. Strain, director, presented his 30-piece W. T. S. T. C. band in its first concert of the year last Friday night, Nov. 23, in the high school auditorium at 7:30.

The pieces played by the band were: "Front Section," and "Tenth Regimental," both of which were marches; "Panaroma," a concert overture; "Cupid's Captives"; "Best Loved Southern Melodies"; "Norembega March," "All I Do Is Dream of You," and "Alma Mater."

Mr. Strain played a cornet solo, "Commodore Program." The clarinet quartet of the band played "Alsatian Band," and Kenneth Hohlaus, accompanied by Miss Lilla Beth Burroughs at the piano, played a violin solo.

The director of the band expressed his opinion of band work and music in these words, "The study occupies a student's spare time. It promotes quick and accurate thinking. Also, it fosters good citizenshhip through co-operation with one another. Music study helps one to be well-rounded in his education."

H. S. Strain, director of the C. H. S. band, also expressed his opinion by contrasting our musical organization with those of surrounding towns. Texas has just admitted music study to the high school curriculum for this school year. This is the first time it has been used specifically for credit. "Band work does not conflict with Mrs. Barker's work at all. The workers need the co-operation of the parents as well as the energy of the child. This work gives an outlet for the surplus energy of the student."

Extracts From The Exchange

From the Wheeler Corral:

Soph: Just think!

Frosh: What?

Soph: Think what a time two cross-eyed people have looking each other in the eye.

Pete, the Philosopher, in the Baylor College Belles, says: "Foresight is the steering wheel to guide us in our words and the things we do. The successful business man must have foresight and so must the student, because if he has foresight he doesn't wait until the night before an exam and then cram to make a decent grade the next day."

We find in the Wheeler Coral an account of its joining the Texas High School Press Association. The "Corral" and "The Eagle's Tale" are among the latest entrants into the association.

The following poem entitled "The T-T-Type Writer" is from another exchange:

"This letter, please excuse,
'Cause I'm yearning how to use

"I stutter and I stammer
I can't remember grammar
On this tt-yy-p writer."
"I ssstagger when I walk

"It makes me jump up at night

Five Scouts Pass Tenderfoot Test

Five girls passed the Tenderfoot Test at the meeting of the Girl Scouts, Wednesday, November 21, in the high school gymnasium.

Those who passed the Tenderfoot Test are: Lucille Davis, Martha Frances Campbell, Polly Cluck, Ardeth Ann Cofer, and Raynell Rigsby.

Five more are expected to pass the test at the next meeting, at which time the troop plans to organize into patrols.

Marie O'Donald and Rowena Lockwood entertained a group of their friends with a Thanksgiving party, Saturday night.

Every Hard-Boiled Teacher Has Soft Spot Tot Learns

"Once Bob Carter said I had nice hair;
"Chuck" Weill wondered how anyone could know so much;
Many pupils have brought me flowers,
Also boxes of candy;
But what pleased me most
Was when Mike exclaimed;
"Gee, Miss Brown, you're not a bit like a teacher, You're so human."
—From "Teachers Are People," by Virginia Church.

Friday afternoon between 3 and 4 o'clock, a three-year-old visitor was in a certain teacher's room. She held the child on her lap at her desk and in between questions on book reports, entertained the little girl with things she found in her desk.

If anyone thinks all teachers are "hard-boiled" and have no interests other than books, you should have been eaves-dropping when she said, "All through my school days, I studied at home holding my little sister or some other baby." It won't be fair to the teacher to tell her name; she might have too many requests to take care of your little brothers and sisters in your place.

Eagle '35 Basketball Team Begins Work; C. Jones Coaching

The 1935 Eagle Basketeers will get under way Monday afternoon when they will report for the first practice under the coaching of Cleveland Jones.

Superintendent I. B. Carruth will attend the State Teachers Convention at Galveston during the Thanksgiving holidays.

Miss Mattie Jordan and Mabrey Vandergriff will spend the week end in Tulia.

Miss Lois Goodrich will visit friends in Tahoka and Lockney during the Thanksgiving holidays.

Beulah Brasuel and Anna Mayo Sharp are going to Tulia Thanksgiving.

Mary Collins is going to Plainview for the Thanksgiving holidays.

"Geometry Studes are Born Not Made"

"First let us turn our attention to the figure," Hal Gamble announced self-confidently as he was asked to explain a Geometry problem.

"Isosceles trapezoid, eh? Well, draw a straight line and"—he motioned with his arm, "and then like this. Oh, you know, I mean a perpendisector bicular, I—I—I mean a bipendicular perpensector. Aw! Shoot! I mean a perpendicular bisector!"

He proceeded glibly for several minutes until until he happened to hear the murmur, "Wrong problem! wrong problem."

"Geometry students," announced Hal, "are born, not made."

Dr. Meyer Speaks To Faculty Club

Dr. A. M. Meyer of W. T., will be guest speaker at a meeting of the public school faculty and rural teachers, December 4, in the Home Economics dining room in the high school building at 7 o'clock.

The program will be divided into two main topics of discussion. These topics are: "Preliminary Aspects of Curriculum" and "Chief Approaches to Curriculum Construction."

The teachers have been studying curriculum revision since the opening of school and will continue the study throughout the entire school year. They are studying changes in curriculum to enable them to help build a new curriculum.

"Readers' Guide" Is Bought By Library

Librarian, information please?

Distracted students in the high school need not worry the teachers and librarians for information concerning where magazine articles on any subject may be found in the library. The library has recently bought the "Reader's Guide" to periodical literature. Here are listed many subjects with the magazine and article given.

When high school students begin to want information on careers to follow they can find it in the large brown leather bound book called "Careers" published by the Institute for Research, Chicago. In this book are discussed for benefit 51 major professions and vocations that the world offers today. Would you like to follow crimnology or horticulture as a career?

SENIORS, SOPHS LEAD IN INTRA-MURAL TOURNEY

FRESHMEN ELIMINATED FRI, JUNIORS LOSE TO THE SENIORS MONDAY

In the game held Monday noon, the seniors won the right to play the sophomores in the soft-ball tourney finals, by defeating the juniors.

Thursday at the lunch hour, the sophomores romped over the highly confident seniors in a fast game by a score of 16 to 9 to tie with the juniors for first place in the soft ball tournament.

The majority of the sophomores tallies came in the first inning, by marking up over 10 runs to their opponents none.

Willard Childers was perhaps the most outstanding player of the game by his unusual batting, and outstanding fielding.

Juniors Win Over Frosh

Thursday, the juniors and the freshmen had one of the most interesting games of the tournament. The freshmen took the lead in the first inning by scoring 12 points before they were forced to take the field. The junior team was held to a small score of 4 points in the initial inning of the game.

The freshmen in the second inning got one run, but three outs left the runner on base. The juniors came to town and made 8 runs in the second inning to even up the score 12-12.

After the juniors had held the freshmen in the second inning the freshmen staged a come back by making two scores before they were forced to leave town. The juniors were on the warpath in the third and final inning, and made 11 runs which was stopped by the sounding of the 1 o'clock bell.

Frosh Downed

The seniors defeated the freshman softball team Friday at noon with a rather one-sided affair by a score of 19 to 6. By losing this game, the freshmen were automatically eliminated from the tournament lists by losing two games, and winning none.

For the lower classmen, Fairy Hill perhaps stood foremost with his spectacular pitching, while Edd Brooks was the senior's mainstay in the pitching battery.

Sophomores Win

The junior team suffered its first loss Friday, when they were beaten 6 to 7 by the sophomores.

In the first inning the juniors held the sophomores to one run, and when the juniors got to the bat they got four runs before the sophomores knew what had taken place.

But for the next two innings the sophomores held the juniors for no scores, chalking up four for themselves.

The next inning, the scores were divided 2 and 2. This gave the sophomores a 1 point margin, which won the game.

The sophomores played an outstanding game and proved to the juniors that they could play ball.

The juniors were nosed out of the tournament by the 22 to 3 spanking administered by the seniors, Monday.

For the first three innings the juniors' slate was bare, but in the third, they ran in 6 runs.

Outstanding ball playing was done by Brooks, senior captain and pitcher.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Last Sunday night, a capacity congregation filled the Episcopal church to take part in an inspiring Thanksgiving service, the feature of which was the presence of a dozen members of the vested choir of St. Andrews church, Amarillo, who rendered selections from Maunder's beautiful cantata, "A Song of Thanksgiving," and led in the chants and hymns.

Thos who came were Miss Nellie Erhard, organist, and Mesdames L. B. Newby, George Williams, Lenora Bennett, William Pitman, E. W. Little, Inez Sullivan and Miss Debby Patterson; and Messrs Frank Peterson, H. V. Elkington, Raymond Erhard and L. S. Aldrich.

Rev. Warwick Aiken preached a helpful sermon appropriate to the occasion. The choir vested in the Little House of Fellowship, and marched in processional to the church, singing: "Come, ye thankful people, Come." The recessional was "Praise to God, immortal praise."

After the service, sixty-four persons had tea with the Amarillo party at the Little House.

Next Monday night, Dec. 3rd, Dr. Theorode Wedel, Ph. D., National Secretary for College Work of the Episcopal Church, will be the guest of the Little House, and would like to meet all students who will call, at 8:15, to confer with them about problems of mutial interest. He is to represent this institution in that organization. The Association sets up the standards under which the work of this college is conducted. Buffaloes Lose Game To Alva

Six Boys Play Their Last Football Game For W. T. S. T. C.

At Alva last Saturday the Northwestern Rangers of Coach Jenks Simmons, proved to be too strong for the West Texas Buffaloes in the last football game of the season for both teams. The Buffs came out on the short end of a 13 to 0 score.

Both of the Alva scores came as surprises to fans as well as players early in the second quarter. A strong wind had backed the Buffaloes back against their goal line all through the first quarter. They had repelled charge after charge of the burly Rangers. The Rangers had tried everything in their bag of tricks in an effort to score while they had the advantage.

Then, as the first quarter ended and the Buffs gained the wind, fans settled down for a siege by the Buffs. Champion kicked the herd out of apparent danger with a long, high punt which the wind carried from one end of the field to the other.

In the face of the wind the Rangers threw a pass which had proved unsuccessful all through the first quarter when it should have counted. Williman tossed to Neely who ran 25 yards after catching the 26 yard pass to score standing up. Mussen place-kicked the extra point.

Immediately after the kickoff the Simmons men again scored as a result from Williman to Neely. This time Neely was downed by Holston playing safety on the Buffaloes' 19 yard line. On the next play the Buffaloes received a 15 yard penalty for piling on, and Mayfield plunged the ball over from the one foot line. He fumbled as he crossed the goal but the ball was recovered across the line by a Ranger guard. This time Mussen's kick was wide.

In the last half the Bison Herd threatened to score several times but at a crucial moment a Buff pass would fall into the eager hands of the Alva secondary, and all efforts were to no avail although the Buffs had the margin in first downs and yards gained.

Captain Walker, Cagle Teague, Jimmie Holston, Bill Allen, D. V. Biggers, and Emil Hutto played their last game for the Maroon and White.

THANKSGIVING

——Recognizing that "God is the giver of every good and perfect gift," we turn our minds this day to Thanksgiving for the benefits that are ours.

——It becomes any human being to stop in his struggle for material goods and take account of the good that he already enjoys.

——Living in a land of peace and plenty, any man of these United States has reason for a grateful heart today. But most of us can also take into account our homes, the love of friends, shelter and food, health, educational advantages, and the freedom to pursue our highest good in the way that seems best to us.

——For all these material and spiritual benefits, we are truly thankful.

Uncle Sam Searches Abroad for Grass That Will Defy Future Drouths

IF our midwestern plains had been covered with grass sturdy enough to withstand high temperatures and hold the sod in place despite strong winds, much of the damage and distress ushered in by 1934's disastrous drouth would have been averted.

Because this was not the case, cattle died like flies and rich topsoil drifted from midwestern farms with each hot breeze.

To arm against such future tragedies, the U. S. Department of Agriculture is scouring the world for a drouth-resistant grass species. The search is beginning in Central Asia.

In the Gobi Desert — where grasses have been known to survive temperatures ranging from 100 degrees F. to 40 below zero—a veteran explorer has been assigned to find a type of grass suitable for transplanting in the United States, to be used in rebuilding its ravaged western rangelands.

Prof. Nicholas Roerich, eminent Russian archeologist, painter, and recognized authority on Central Asia, heads the expedition, already "on location." Aiding him are his son, George, expert on Central Asiatic tongues; H. C. MacMillan and J. L. Stephens, Department of Agriculture grass experts.

Besides drouth-proof grasses, the explorers will seek grasses and shrubs with root stocks of a type suitable for preventing wind and water erosion, which robs American farmers of millions of dollars' worth of topsoil annually.

Vegetation answering these specifications is believed to flourish in remote sections of the Gobi, where the rainfall annually is less than 16 inches (half the average rainfall in the midwest during the drouth months of this year).

OTHER such expeditions, launched by the Department of Agriculture, have proved their worth. Crops introduced in this country by the department's experts are valued at $100,000,000 annually.

Among them are the hardy wheat called durum; Peruvian alfalfa, now the most important variety in California; Pima cotton, the great crop of the Salt River Valley, Ariz.; the date palm, now grown as an established industry in the southwest; Sudan grass, an important forage crop in many states, and others.

And the department places great faith in Dr. Roerich. For the last 11 years, he has made extensive scientific and cultural forays into Sikkim, Kashmir, Tibet, Chinese Turkestan, Magnolia, the Gobi Desert, and the Altai region.

During one year, amidst terrible hardships from which five native servants and a score of caravan animals perished, Dr. Roerich, his wife and aides were confined in a tent by Tibetan authorities while the temperature ranged constantly about 30 degrees below zero.

In the last few years the distinguished man's interest turned to Tibetan botanical lure, which aided the department to obtain his invaluable services.

Corn Borer

as one stalk of corn stubble left in the ground, whether in a field or in a back yard garden, will pull or plow it up during the month of December or January.

Conditions are very favorable this year for killing off the corn borer for the reason that the drouth has already eliminated most of the corn and very few corn stalks were left this fall. However enough stalks remain in roasting ear patches and small gardens to re-infest the whole country next summer unless we all co-operate to destroy them this winter. Many town farmers have allowed a few stalks of corn to stand in their back yard. Every one of these is an incubator for next year's horde of ugly worms whose purpose in life is to destroy the roasting ear patches. It makes no difference if no corn was matured, if the stalks were only a few inches in height, there is sufficient stubble left in the ground to make a winter home for a corn borer in each stalk.

It would be very easy this winter to put over a real program of destruction of the corn stalk borer because there is so few stalks to plow up. We are not likely to ever again have conditions so favorable to destroy a major crop pest in a large section of the country. Why not a campaign over all the Texas Panhandle to kill off the bug that plays such havoc with our growing corn? The few corn stalks that were left this fall could easily be plowed or pulled up.

If everyone would see to it that he does not provide winter quarters for any borers and then mention the matter to his neighbor who left a few stalks, the job would be done pronto.

County Agent.

Snow Brings

amount of moisture which will cause the wheat to stool and cover the ground.

Wheat farmers are highly pleased with the developments of the last two weeks. While the moisture is not sufficiently deep to insure the crop to be carried safely through the winter months, the regularity of the moisture during the past two weeks counts for much in getting the crops started in good shape. The snow will do a lot of good for the wheat, as the top of the ground received another good soaking.
